The Honorable William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Casey:

While Professor Kirkpatrick is recuperating from minor surgery, he has asked that I notify you of the schedule of events associated with the Olin lecture on 15 October and I am most pleased to do so.

It is my understanding that your plane will arrive between 2:00 and 3:00 P.M. at the T.F. Green Airport serving Providence. I shall meet you and escort you to campus in a limosine provided by Vincent A. Cianci, Jr., the Republican Mayor of Providence.

At 4:00 P.M. you will be featured at a closed and informal colloquium for thirty selected faculty and special guests in the Lownes Room of the John Hay Library. This will be nothing more than an informal question and answer period, lasting not more than an hour and will be moderated in Kirk's absence, by Mark Garrison, the Director of Brown's newly-established Center for Foreign Policy Development. Mark retired recently from the State Department and served as Deputy Chief of Mission in Moscow under Ambassadors Toon and Watson.

Following the colloquium you will be the guest of honor at a dinner hosted by President Howard R. Swearer at the Faculty Club. The other guests will be as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Boss
(President, A.T. Cross Company)

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard V. Buonanno, Jr.
(President, Old Fox Chemical Company)

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Chase
(President, Ann & Hope Department Stores)

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riesman
(Prominent Rhode Island philanthropists)

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Garrison

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent A. Cianci, Jr.

At approximately 7:40 P.M. I will escort you to Alumnae Hall for the lecture. We are anticipating that this 1,000 seat auditorium will be filled to capacity. It is also extremely likely that the local television stations will videotape portions of your address for the 11:00 P.M. news. We have, however, notified the press of your unavailability for interviews.

Finally, if you have any questions concerning the arrangements, please do not hesitate to have your personal assistant contact me at my office (401-863-2071). I will be away on University business in Wisconsin and Indiana this week, but I will be in touch with my office several times each day.

We at Brown very much look forward to your visit on the 15th.

Cordially,

Ronald D. Vanden Dorpel
Associate Director,
Corporate & Foundation Relations
Acting Coordinator of the
Olin Lectures
